The Signs of Earthquakes

Earthquakes cannot be easily predicted, but some people notice strange signs before an earthquake. One example in Japan was that the color of the sky looked different.

Sometimes, animals might be very scared. Before the big earthquake on September 21, 1999 hit, thousands of crocodiles on a farm in Tainan cried loudly all together and tried to climb to a higher place. On Mt. Jade, many animals also left their homes. Birds became noisy and flew away together before the earthquake.

People do not know when and where the next earthquake will happen. But if we pay more attention to our surroundings, we may be better-prepared to reduce the damage.
